

CHAUTAUQUA AT
MACLEOD ON OCT.
9th, 11th and 12th

The Dominion Chautauquas are scheduled for Macleod on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 9th, 11th and 12th. The 1920 entertainment is bigger and better than ever and promises three days of absorbing interest and pleasurable entertainment.

Gloom and worry are two deadly foes, sapping the vitality of the average man. To take you into the land of music with its soothing effects, to cause you to enjoy a hearty laugh have been constantly in our minds in building the program we are presenting this season.

It matters not whether you are old, young, broken in spirit, discontented or burdened with disappointment, you will find something to cheer you at the Chautauqua. Well trained entertainers will give you every opportunity to bury your worries. The lectures this year, as heretofore, will give you food for thought, and above all, inspiration that will do more good than words can tell.

We are fully aware of the fact that it is humanly impossible to build a program that will appeal to all alike, but one thing we can assure, and that is, the average fair and open minded man will find a world of valuable instruction, plenty of clean, refining entertainment, and unlimited inspiration.

Since the adults of our Dominion are only "children grown up" and the youth of today are the men of tomorrow, in planning these programs we have selected artists who will appeal to the best that is in us.

The following high class artists will contribute to the pleasure and entertainment of those attending the assembly:

Newell Concert Company

Fenwick Newell, one of the outstanding American tenors, who comes to sing before Chautauqua audiences, is one of the genuinely pleasing tenors of the platform. He has a rich voice of abundant power coupled with a delightful personality. He won unusual recognition in 1918 and 1919 singing for soldiers overseas, and he returned in the late spring of this year from New Zealand where he was a featured artist on the Chautauqua South Seas circuit for two seasons.

Mary Jane Newell, pianist and accompanist, and Gertrude Hoben, violinist, are the other two members of the company. Both are musicians of brilliance and unusual talent, and they ably support Mr. Newell in two of the finest musical programs of the week.

Fay Epperson

It is not often that Chautauqua audiences have the pleasure of listening to a talented young reader, who is as a whistler to her list of accomplishments adds that of a child impersonator. Fay Epperson is surely a versatile entertainer, and besides she is credited with being one of the best impersonators of children on the entire Chautauqua platforms. Unquestionably she has reached this place of prominence because of clearly living the life of the characters she presents. She knows and understands the child from every angle and with the unusual talent she possesses she makes the child live before you.

Fay Epperson is going to be one of the bright lights of the Chautauqua program and we are sure you will enjoy her entertainment.

Robert Parker Miles

Many a Chautauqua Festival audience will thank Robert Parker Miles for the sincere message he will bring to them. Many of his hearers will go away better and richer for the hour they spent in his company, for Mr. Miles has a telling personality as an individual and as a lecturer he is a natural dramatist, vivid, emotional and picturesque.

It will be one of the pleasures of the Festival to listen to a man of Mr. Miles' ability. He will raise his audience to the greatest enthusiasm, for he has a lecture, in fact a number of lectures, that are unique, intensely interesting, with a helpful, inspiring message for everybody.

Of all the mass of newspaper reports, one stands out as follows: "The lecturer is an unusual man. He has no doubt. His lecture can not be imitated or counterfeited. The criticisms of his lecture have been without exception laudatory."

Serbian Tamburica Orchestra

We know that in presenting the talented "Minstrels of the Balkans" we are offering to Chautauqua audiences one of the most unique, yet thoroughly fascinating and pleasing orchestras on the platform today. It is unique in that it is the only organization of the American continent playing the native instrument of Serbia. It is fascinating because of the weird but intensely musical qualities of an instrument that sounds like the guitar, banjo, and ukelele, yet withal has the charm of the harp. It is pleasing because the players are master musicians.

The Serbian Orchestra has proven to be a prime favorite with Western Canadian audiences and they have asked for return engagements practically everywhere. They give a program that is charming and very satisfying, and the leader, Peter Savich, is always generous in his responses. The Serbians have always pleased

The R. C. M. P. squadron (Major Douglass in command) that has been in training camp at Banff during the summer returned to Macleod last Saturday. The squadron left Banff on the morning of September 16, spent a day in Calgary and in arriving here on the 25th, made an average of over 22 miles per day, which is good going for cavalry. The trip was made with ease—men and horses being in good shape on arrival here.

In next week's issue of The Times will appear a detailed account of the squadron's activities at Banff and a story of the sports event they put on there on the 28th of August.

SOCIAL HALF HOUR

Following is from the Hamilton Daily Times, Ont:

Rev. W. A. Lewis, of Macleod, Alberta, ex-president of the Alberta Conference, who is in Ontario to attend the meeting of the Mission Board in Toronto, was a visitor to the city yesterday, and went to First Methodist church to hear his old confrere from the west, Rev. Dr. Hughson, in the morning. The pastor invited him to take the service, and Mr. Lewis preached an excellent sermon from Ecclesiastes 3:11. "He has set the world in their heart."

At the evening service Dr. Hughson's subject was "Smile and Speak First." The congregation was very large indeed, and the sermon, on the cheerful religion, was greatly enjoyed as was Mr. Geo. Richmond's singing of "Somebody Did a Loving Deed."

After the service probably two hundred of the congregation remained for a social half-hour in the Sunday school room. Hearty singing of the good old hymns and a solo by Mr. Dan Llewellyn made the half-hour pass all too quickly.

and will continue to do so.

Norman Allan Imrie

There are some platform speakers, who, after they have given their address leave nothing as a memory refresher. Others give out of themselves and deposit an abundance of food for thought and stimulation, and they are the lecturer-educators who are doing good as public speakers. In this latter class Norman Imrie can rightly claim a front seat. He is a little man, but energy revitalized for he gives out of himself. Those who have heard Capt. Imrie will not forget him. He is one of the exceptions. A clear enunciator, a rapid fire orator, banishing his quips, jests and stories into his address every now and again, he keeps his audience on tip-toe, expectant, waiting on every sentence and something to think about.

Capt. Imrie will be one of the lecturers in the Chautauqua Festival who will leave a host of friends everywhere he goes, for he is a Canadian who has seen things, been taught in the hard school of experience and has made good.

Roselth Knapp Breed

Roselth Knapp Breed is one of the greatest dramatic impersonators before the public today. She is not an ordinary reader; she is a remarkable interpreter of real people in real life. Her keen understanding of human nature and careful observation, coupled with her natural ability, enables her to depict different characters in such a way that her own personality fades into the subjects of her stories.

She has a most remarkable combination of dry humor and refinement. She presents a clean, artistic entertainment that stamps her work as superior in every way. Miss Breed has made her work an art through years of earnest study and wide platform experience. Her work is delightfully unique, and her personality captivates her listeners in whatever characters she is portraying.

Her program embraces character sketches, story telling that is a delight, blending keenest humor and satire with delicate pathos in a superbly artistic manner. Her monologue work is at all times a most pleasing feature, and we are sure she will win her way into the hearts of the Chautauqua Festival audiences.

Garnet Jubilee Singers

In every town where the Garnet Jubilee Singers appeared on Chautauqua's big six-day program this summer, they were exceptionally well received. In bringing them back for the Chautauqua Festivals, we know that their program will appeal equally as well for they are an exceedingly well balanced company of colored singers.

Under the capable direction of Prof. Garner himself, the Jubilee Singers will revive memories of the good old plantation days and the tuneful folk songs. They can give a program that is both varied and rich.

They can render selections from difficult oratories, from grand opera down to present day catchy song hits that seem to have gripped the entire continent in a harvest of syncopating jazz. Every member of the company possess excellent voices for solo work and in ensemble numbers they have a harmony that is charming.

In view of the increased cost of transportation, living expenses and the tremendous decline in the purchasing value of a dollar, we are pleased Almida Sofia Johnson, wife of C. Johnson, 8 miles south of Macleod, died at Macleod General Hospital on Tuesday, September 28th from blood poisoning.

About three weeks since Mrs. Johnson got a sliver in one of her thumbs while wiping the base-board in one of the rooms in her home. The wound did not heal and the patient was brought to the Macleod Hospital for medical attention, but blood poisoning set in which, in spite of all efforts resulted in death.

The deceased was a sister of Oscar Rossine, of Ardenville, and a cousin of Mrs. George McFarquhar, of Macleod.

At her untimely death Mrs. Johnson is mourned by her husband and a daughter thirteen years of age, as well as by many other relatives and friends in this district.

The funeral took place from the Methodist Church, Macleod today (Thursday) and the remains were interred in the Union Cemetery, Macleod.

REVISITS MACLEOD
AFTER ABSENCE
OF 38 YEARS

H. Canning, of Weston, Ont., was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Paisley, Beaver Creek, during the past week. He also visited with Mrs. Alf. Dixon (his sister) in Macleod.

Mr. Canning was in Macleod and Pincher Creek in 1882, in the Indian Department Service, during the time J. P. Wadsworth was inspector of Indian Agencies in Alberta. Mr. Canning and a party of 21 came to Macleod, overland from Bute, Mont., by stage to Helena and thence by wagon to this point. When in the Indian Department Service he was stationed at Blackfoot Crossing. He helped break the first sod on the Blood Reserve. After four years service in the Department Mr. Canning returned East where he has resided since, being engaged in the dairy business.

Mr. Canning talks entertainingly of the old bull-team day, when Macleod was situated on the Island, how he stayed at the best hotel in Calgary in '85—a frame building with tar paper roof and was best only by reason of its being the only frame building in the village—the others were built of logs.

On this trip Mr. Canning visited the Blackfoot reserve again and says most of the Indians of his former days on the reserve are now good Indians—only two minor chiefs being now alive.

Mr. Canning returned to his home in the East on Wednesday of this week.

ed to be able to bring to you so much for the price of your season ticket—six big programs for $1.75. It is almost impossible to get a meal for less than one dollar these days. This year it will pay to take advantage of the cheap season ticket. You will be able to take your whole family to every number of the Chautauqua program at a less cost than you alone can go to a distant place and spend your vacation.

If you are not one of the committee bringing the Chautauqua, see to it that your season tickets are reserved early. This year the single admission charge will be considerably increased over that of last year and will total about three times as much as a season ticket.

General Information

Season tickets are on sale by the committee until noon of the opening day at $1.75. They are transferable only within the owner's immediate family.

Should you forget to bring your Season Ticket, purchase a Single Admission from the cashier and get a receipt. Bring your Season Ticket to the next session and hand to the cashier with your receipt. She will then refund to you the amount of your Single Admission.

Single Admissions to the various sessions amount to nearly three times the cost of a Season Ticket. Even though you attend but a few numbers it is economy to buy a Season Ticket. Children's Single Admission approximately Half Price.

LETHBRIDGE—At a luncheon at which Hon. Charles Stewart and Hon. A. J. McLean were the principal guests, the premier made a very encouraging statement about the attitude of the government towards irrigation projects in Southern Alberta.

He first of all stated that all the members of the government fully realized the importance of irrigation as a solution of problems peculiarly affecting the south. He said he was more optimistic about the disposal of the bonds of the Lethbridge Northern than people in Lethbridge seemed to be. At any rate, the bond issue would soon be settled and they would know whether it was possible to dispose of the bonds under existing conditions. He made the absolute declaration that the government was behind the scheme and would do everything possible to get the work under construction as quickly as possible. However he pointed out that, at the present cost of money and labor, the cost of construction of a project might easily become excessive, which would add a burden for many years on the farmers of the district. This excessive cost should be avoided as much as possible. In telephone, road and public building construction being done in the province at the present time it was being found that costs are about 35 per cent. higher.

However the premier created the impression that irrigation is now one of the big problems the government is grappling. He admitted that for some months past he had been unable to give as much attention to irrigation problems as they deserved, chiefly owing to the railway problems. However the latter is now out of the way and irrigation will take a more important place in the policies of the government from now on.—Lethbridge Herald.

TRENHOLME DICKSON WILL GO TO LETHBRIDGE

It is understood that Trenholme Dickson, clerk of the supreme court and district courts of Macleod is to succeed R. P. Wallace as clerk of these courts in Lethbridge.

Macleod loses a good citizen in the person of Trenholme Dickson. He is a man who has taken an active part in all things pertaining to the town, and will no doubt prove a great gain to the neighboring city which is unfortunate to have him as a citizen. He was appointed clerk here in 1916, and so has been in this position for fourteen years, where he has made many friends who will be sorry to part with him. As an official he has always been courteous and obliging to the smallest detail. Nothing has been heard as to his successor.

SANE AND SQUARE DEAL FOR VETS

DIGBY, N.S., Sept. 22.—"The time is now ripe for the returned men to cease quibbling about details and stride forward for high ideals," said C. G. McNeill, secretary-treasurer of the Dominion G.W.V.A. at yesterday's session of the annual Nova Scotia G.W.V.A. convention here.

The association, he declared, had always been sane and reasonable in its views toward the commonwealth. Further aid for the returned men was necessary. Thousands of men were still adrift and the situation was rendered more acute by the government demobilizing its re-establishment bureaus. The returned men were thinking on some lines and the public should not be misled. They stood for a clean government and a square deal for all.

Among the resolutions adopted was one "that more general recognition be given to the fundamental principle which has actuated all representatives with regard to further aid in the re-establishment, namely, that the obligation devolves upon the nation to make the greatest possible effort to restore the discharged soldier to a status in the community life which he would have enjoyed but for the war service."

METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. F. Forster, of Lomond, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday Oct. 3rd, both morning and evening. The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will hold their regular meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 5th, at 4 o'clock in the Parsonage. All ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. D. F. Coxson and F. Watson, of Pearce, have purchased a Sawyer-Massey threshing separator, 22-36 from Alex McDonald, local agent. The rig will be operated in Pearce district.

The military funeral of Sergt. Shaver on Saturday was a scene not to be forgotten by those who witnessed it. The church was crowded, and many were not able to get inside the building. The procession formed at the home of the late sergeant on 16th street and wended its way to the church of England and after the service thence to the public cemetery. The procession was led by the firing party, followed by the gun carriage, and then came the police in a body. At the cemetery after the service was finished, the firing party fired volleys and the last post was sounded by the bugler. With fitting rites thus ended this world's activities for an honorable member of over thirty years service in the Royal North West Mounted Police.

Floral tributes were sent by officers and comrades in the R.C.M.P., and friends, as follows: Comrades, H. Div., Lethbridge wreath; Comrades at Barracks, 4 wreathes; D. and E. Div., officers anchor, and fellow Sergt. cross; Sergt. and Mrs. Alexander, spray; Sergt. and Mrs. Allen, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie, Lethbridge wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Rudd, Edmonton, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Cullen, Bow Island, wreath; Christ Church W. MUSICAL IMPRESSIONS

A series of talks on music by Prof. C. H. Laugher, Mus. Bac. Bowmanville.

A vocalist writes to a music editor wanting to know how long it is possible for a man to hold a note. The editor replies, we have one that we held for six years and rather expect to hold it six years longer.

It would be quite difficult to hold a musical note that long, particularly if playing on a brass instrument.

We are told that an English physician advises the playing of wind instrument, as a recent investigation has brought this summing up: That cornetists live averages 69 years; clarinetists live 64 years, and because flutists do not require the full exercise of their lungs in playing, their average is but 61 years. He adds that to play some wind instruments lengthens life, for the steady and moderate use of the lungs, in contrast to the use of the lungs in playing, is in excess of breathing in the cause.

We sometimes pause in considering the drum as a musical instrument and we step up to the drummer and say to him (after the band had stopped playing) you don't make very good music with that instrument; no, admitted the pounder of the drum I know I don't but I drown a hell of bad music.

The Scotch have a proverb "Where McGregor sits, there is the head of the table." This brings us to an incident in Sarah Bernhardt's career when touring the U. S. A. Her manager failed to secure a proper theatre for her in a certain Texas city, in which she had promised to appear.

With great reluctance and expecting a contemptuous refusal, he suggested that he might secure a circus tent but supposed that she would only act in a first class theatre. Go ahead, said she, "wherever Sarah Bernhardt is a first class theatre."

The dead are: M. Steinberg, Canora, Sask; D. Vinetsky, Canora, Sask; Paul House, Ollien, Iowa; Harold Quinn, Wadene, Sask.

The men killed and injured were stockmen in charge of animals on the train which was ahead.

Four cars were derailed and damaged by the impact when the locomotive of the rear train hit the end of the train ahead.

None of the members of the train crew were hurt. No further details of the accident have been received here.

The injured: S. Mighton, Wadene, injuries in the head and side. N. B. Harris, Wadene, injuries to face.—Calgary Herald.

HAPPINESS A LA MODE

"Happiness A La Mode" is the story of Barbara Townsend, who wishes to make a success of married life and allows her husband, Dick, so much freedom that he attributes to a lack of interest in him. Dorothy Mitchell takes advantage of his feelings and enjoys Dick in the idea of getting a divorce from Barbara. When he announces this to his wife, her pride asserts itself and she accuses him.

The musician of to day is usually exceedingly versatile in their activities, but in former times it was only too common for them to be confined to an absurdly narrow and one-sided outlook on life, and to take little interest in anything outside of their own particular specialty.

An amusing example of this was with Puppo, an eccentric violinist, at one time fashionable teacher in Paris and London. Living in Paris at the time of the revolution, although perfectly inoffensive, he was denounced as a suspect and brought before the tribunal for trial. The following dialogue took place between him and the president of the tribunal: What is your name? Puppo, he answered.

What do you do? I play violin. What were your activities during the reign of the tyrant? I played the violin. And nowadays? I play the violin. And if the republic have need of you what will you do? I will play the violin. Puppo was acquitted.

The impression or influence that musicians have behind them is little realized by themselves and we certainly do not know to what extent of trouble, difficulty, or short comings some of these musicians worked under. Think of the beautiful music of Grieg, much of it written while he had the use of one lung only.

Schubert, whose artistic career lasted but seven years, was the most miserably poor of all musicians, yet he is regarded as the greatest song writer, producing the most beautiful melodic phrasing.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

CALGARY, Sept. 28.—Bound, gagged and tied to the leg of a desk by two holdup men, in the office of the Regent theatre Co., Limited, 21 Alexander Corner, on Monday night at 10:30 o'clock, Oliver Scott, assistant manager of the theatre was robbed of $629 which he was carrying in bags and was about to deposit in the office vault.

The robbers were secreted in a side office, partitioned off for the advertising manager, and when Mr. Scott entered with the money in his possession and switched on the lights to place the bags in the safe, the robbers stepped from the room behind him and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Escape with Booty

After binding and gagging the theatre man, the robbers escaped with the booty and the police have been unable to make any arrests yet but several detectives have been working diligently on the case ever since it was reported by Dr. W. A. Hicks, 24 Alexander Corner, who sent in the alarm after hearing Scott's shouts for help when he succeeded in working loose an adhesive tape gag which the robbers had placed over his mouth.—Calgary Herald.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The huge American, French and German combine for the control of steel and iron is seen as a menace by British trade interests. The United States Steel Corporation and the National City Bank, it is understood have completed working agreement with the Schneider and Creusot groups in France and the Staines and Tyskens groups in Germany.

England's apprehension that it will affect her trade is increased by the understanding that American interests are involved closely with the Allied Standard Oil and large American coal interests, and they are planning a permanent domination of the world's markets. An example of the working of the new combine is reported from Reval, where a steel products' corporation, a German subsidiary concern, secured orders from the Estonian government for a number of steel ships. The American interests now propose to purchase the lease of one of the Reval shipyards, negotiating for a supply of Estonian and American coal.

British steel interests recently declined the invitation to enter the international pool.—Calgary Herald.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Four men were killed and two injured at 4:30 a.m. today in a rear-end smash when a freight train on the Canadian National Railway ran into a stock train running ahead, five miles west of Canora, Sask.

The dead are: M. Steinberg, Canora, Sask; D. Vinetsky, Canora, Sask; Paul House, Ollien, Iowa; Harold Quinn, Wadene, Sask.

The men killed and injured were stockmen in charge of animals on the train which was ahead.

Four cars were derailed and damaged by the impact when the locomotive of the rear train hit the end of the train ahead.

None of the members of the train crew were hurt. No further details of the accident have been received here.

The injured:

U. F. A. PLAN
BIG FALL DRIVE

The Central Political Committee of the U. F. A. have now made definite plans for staging a membership drive to cover the whole province the first week in November. Manitoba and Saskatchewan have completed arrangements for a similar drive for exactly the same time. Therefore, this drive will extend throughout the three prairie provinces during the first week of November.

The object throughout the drive in each province will be the same—collect the sum of six dollars from every farmer in the province, and to make every farmer and farm woman, farmer's son and farmer's daughter, a member of the U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. and political members in good standing, and to place our official organ in every farm home. The plan is one dollar out of each six will go into a central organization fund, out of which all expenses of the drive will be paid. This drive is to be self-supporting. It is to be paid for entirely out of the proceeds of the drive, but it is planned that the local, district Political Association, and Central will each receive one dollar net from the membership subscription.

This is a critical moment in the history of our organization. Last year the decision to take political action and the large district conventions in every constituency aroused great enthusiasm. Ten thousand members were added to our organization. This enthusiasm naturally has not remained at boiling point, since there is no election in sight. It is imperative, however, that we not only keep our organization at full strength, but that we bend every energy to make the U. F. A. one hundred per cent strong in every district. All the forces of reaction and special privilege are arrayed against us, with determination and with resources greater than ever before, to smash this farmers' movement. The Premier of Canada, Hon. Arthur Meighen, has publicly denounced Hon. T. A. Crerar and H. W. Wood as leaders of "the wreckers of Canada." That cry and the old "loyalty cry" and every other political subterfuge will be used against us. Some people will believe what they are told. It is imperative that every farmer and farm woman be got into the organization where they can learn at first hand what the organization stands for. Only then will they be proof against the insidious influences which will be brought to bear.

This is the biggest united co-operative effort to enlist every farmer and farm woman in the farmer's movement that has ever been attempted. It should yield big returns. A similar drive put on in Manitoba for ten days last March yielded $49,507.85; while the Liberty Drive in Saskatchewan, put on in October 1919, and planned for one day only, yielded $82,456.60. There is no question that RESULTS can be obtained in every constituency and every district. With crop conditions as they are in Alberta this year, and with the efficient machinery of our district organizations, the prospects for such a drive are splendid. It ought to be easily possible to reach the objective of fifty thousand members of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. as an active member of the political association. They believe it can be done estimated.

The League is erecting a new Sailor's Home at Halifax N. S. costing over $350,000.00; Prince Edward Island $25,000.00; Vancouver, $65,000.00; Sydney, N. S. $25,000.00. A grant was given the Montreal Institute of $1,000.00; the Catholic Home, Montreal $80,000.00; Seamen's Institute, St. John, N. B. $50,000.00; Catholic Sailor's Home, Quebec City, $10,000.00; Limpfield Home for Merchant Sailors, Surry, England, $200,000.00; Doctor Greenberg's Mission, Labrador, $5,000.00; Royal Institute, Port Arthur; $12,000.00; Seamen's Missionary Institute, St. John, N. B. $5,000.00; Merchant Sailors' Rest, Malta, $2,500.00.

Other grants given for various Seamen's relief work: Navy League in London for general work, $9,702.78; King George's Fund for Sailors, $313,138.40; Navy League Overseas Relief Fund, $172,00.00; Navy League Overseas Relief Fund, $216,060.07; British and Foreign Sailors' Society, $12,500.00; Grant to the families of the sailors in the "Princess Sophie disaster," $5,000.00; Prisoner of War fund, $4,819.91; and besides all this a considerable sum was spent by the various provinces to carry on the work among the boys of Canada. Between 800 and 1000 boys, whose fathers were killed during the war, are receiving educational advantages through the work of the League.

This work should appeal to every man, woman and child in the province. Macleod has only been asked to contribute the sum of $250.00 and this amount should be easily raised. The following local committee have been asked to assist:

J. L. Fawcett, D. J. Grier, R. T. McNichol, E. F. Brown and Mrs. T. B. Martin.

WHAT BECAME OF RUSSIA'S GOLD

Where there is much smoke there is pretty sure to be fire of some kind, and a popular rumor is sure to have some foundation in fact, even although the truth be rather different to the report.

During the war many were the stories told of Russian troops landing at Vancouver or some other Western Canadian port, and being transported across Canada to join the Allies in France. Denials were issued, but the report would not down. Men had seen the cars in which the Russians were hiding. Of course the government would deny the story, in order to puzzle the German secret service, but there was no escaping the fact that the men had been brought across Canada, insisted the retailers of the story.

In a way they were right. A Russian product had been landed at Vancouver and taken across Canada to play an important part in the war.

It was not Russian fighting men, but Russian gold.

When the war broke out Russia had in reserve stores of gold to the record figure of 1,601,000,000 rubles—in normal times a gold ruble would be worth a little more than fifty cents.

But Russians were unaccustomed to subscribing to loans and the government, in urgent need, of supplies, began to spend its gold reserves. A shipment amounting to forty million dollars was sent in payment for necessities to Britain. Extraordinary precautions were taken. The cruiser Drake and the military transport Mantois, upon reaching Archangel, were kept in the open sea at a distance of thirty miles from the land, and the gold was transboarded during the night. Notwithstanding all these measures of secrecy, Germany became aware of this shipment, and on the way to England the Drake and Mantois met with mine fields sown by German submarine mine-layers.

The gold was safely delivered to Liverpool, but the fate of the two vessels, which were damaged while conveying it, decided the government to refrain from further shipments by this method.

A new route had to be obtained and a longer but safer one was devised. The gold was conveyed by rail to Vladivostok, thence to Vancouver; much was shipped to Ottawa for the purpose of maintaining British credit in the States, the rest across Canada to the Atlantic, thence to Britain, so giving rise to the famous "Russian re-inforcements" story.

About the same time a number of tales were heard of the bringing of gold by warships and then in fish trains, and the sending of this precious metal to the States in payment of the munitions there being manufactured for the Allies. Not many of these yarns were true. The Russian gold which had been sent to Ottawa had been kept there for this very purpose and the other stories were mostly camouflage.

It is estimated fully $300,000,000 worth of gold was shipped right across Canada in this way.

What happened to the six hundred million dollars remaining in Russia, when the Bolsheviks came into power? Half was in Samara, some in Moscow and the rest in Petrograd.

Forced to accept all the conditions dictated by Germany, the Soviet government was obliged to ship to Berlin, out of the Moscow funds, $160,000,000 ($200,000,000 rubles) in accordance with the conditions of the Brest-Litovsk Peace Treaty.

When Czechoslovakia forced the Soviets to retreat they were able to capture $30,000,000 worth of gold.

Of the rest of the vast hoard of gold the Siberian government under Kolchak obtained possession of some; the Czechoslovak captured a large quantity which they are believed to have turned over to the Soviets. Family Herald

The H. B. Co. have told you all that they are giving up business this year. It is needless to say that we all will miss them. They had it in their power to be very aggressive or tyrannizing with their small competitors. But on the other hand they were civil and courteous. This is important to the merchants and ourselves. It is policy to keep the old reliable stores up to date and able to cater to the increased trade. To do this, however, fresh stock will have to be put in. This is where you, the purchasing public, come on the scene. When the company pull out it means other stores coming in—Jew stores or men who have no sympathy with you and who come for the cash—with Eastern ideas of getting it. Now you can still keep the old merchants in business and enable them to get fresh goods and a larger stock by paying up your bills, even if you have to borrow to do so. These men have trusted you, had faith in you and know the peculiar circumstances many of you were placed in. So by paying them what you owe they can at once re-invest the money buying a larger stock. This is a case in which honesty is the best policy, and you can't be honest when you keep or spend the money instead of paying the merchant what you owe.

ALBERTA IS RICHEST PROVINCE IN CANADA

When an authority so well-informed as Dr. Tory, president of the University of Alberta, publicly declares that Alberta is the richest province in the Dominion, the statement carries weight. It is not the assertion of a boomer nor of a man who has given but cursory study to the subject. Dr. Tory is a student, and he bases his findings on the results of intense and intelligent scientific research. But Alberta's wealth is still potential. Only a small fraction of it has been developed. It is Dr. Tory's plea that every resident of the province shall bring to bear on the problem of development his or her best efforts. The wealth can be of no community value until it has been transmuted into products which the people can use. Provided Alberta will set scientists at work examining her resources and indicating how these can be utilized, almost boundless wealth awaits this province and not mere wealth alone but the ability to give the world real service which after all is the greater privilege.—Calgary Herald.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The placing of an additional daily train on the south line from Calgary to Macleod comes none too soon. The people of that thickly populated district have been very patient for some considerable time. Now that the train is being placed on the road, it is hopeful that it will never again be withdrawn.

The statement of Premier Stewart that this country would have to return to the ten hour day, if Canada was to meet all its obligations, if really made in that way, shows no great amount of reflection. The production of eight hours in most cases is very nearly as great as the ten hours, when everything is taken into consideration, and the difference in the condition of the people makes the return to longer hours quite unthinkable. The same remarks were made in favor of the twelve hour day half a century ago and before that in favor of the fourteen hour day.

A news dispatch indicates that Trotzky is waiting for General Winter and together they will make a drive on Poland. There is some reason to believe that the rank and file of the reds are tired of fighting and have quit and intend to remain quit whatever Trotzky may say or do.

Jomeneau, the octogenarian, the best known public man in the world replies to the interviewer that at his age French politics are a little too rough for him, so he intends to go in for something peaceful and plans to go out to the Indians jungles and hunt tigers.

The position of president of France is more of an honorary one than an active one. His power is very much limited compared with that of president of United States who is both president and premier. The president is appointed by the representatives in the French parliament and an election can be held any time without any distress or turmoil.—Morning Alberta.

THE PLACE OF FOREIGN LANGUAGES ON THE H. SCHOOL CURRICULUM

In order to get a diploma the regulations of the Department compel each and every Grade Ten student to study, whether he wants to or not, the following subjects: English literature, English grammar, English composition, history and civics, physical and commercial geography, algebra, geometry, art, botany and zoology and physics. A student in grade ten can study, if he wishes, one, two or three foreign languages, namely, French, Latin, German. The regulations of the Department do not permit a grade ten student to substitute a foreign language for history or physics or any other subject, but compels each and every student to learn the subjects enumerated above. If the student wants to learn a foreign language it must be studied as "an extra." In grade nine this ruling is the same. Departmental examinations in French, Latin and German are provided in grade eleven and twelve but not in grades nine and ten.

In grade eleven the Department rules that the student study "one of physics, Latin, French and German." Clearly, if two foreign languages are learned one of them must be "an extra." In grade twelve the Department rules that the student choose "any two of algebra, geometry, French, Latin, German." As algebra and geometry are as much required for senior matriculation as are French, Latin or German, each foreign language chosen is either an extra itself as far as senior matriculation is concerned, or it makes some other subject an extra.

Obviously the Department gives an unimportant place on the curriculum to the study of French, Latin or German. The undersigned thinks that German should not be left on a High School Curriculum used in Canada, but urges that the study of French be given every encouragement.

The following regulations have just been received from the Department:

11. Pupils may be promoted from Grade IX to Grade X upon the recommendation of the Department of Education of the Superintendent of Schools; or, where no Superintendent is employed, of the Principal in charge of the school. That a uniform standard for the province may be maintained, the Department of Education will provide examination papers for all pupils in the prescribed subjects, which examination shall form the basis of the above mentioned recommendation. The examinations will be held during June, and the examination papers and time-table will be forwarded to each school preparing students for the Grade IX examination, not later than May 31st of each year. The answer papers shall be valued by the teachers in charge of this grade and shall be forwarded to the Department of Education prior to July 10th, together with a report of the marks obtained by each student.

Teachers shall advise the Department, prior to April 15th, as to the number of Grade IX students desiring to write upon this examination.

12. In all schools having at least three teachers giving their entire teaching time to instruction in the grades from IX to XI or XII inclusive, where the work in Grade X is reported as satisfactory by an Inspector of High Schools, the pupils who have been in regular attendance may be promoted from Grade X to Grade XI without examination, upon the recommendation to the Department of Education of the Superintendent of Schools; or, where no Superintendent is employed, the Principal in charge of the school.

13. In all schools not covered by Section 12 above, the pupils shall be required to pass an examination in such subjects of Grade X as may be determined from time to time by regulations of the Department.

This means that both grade nine and ten will have to write Departmental examinations next summer. Grade ten papers will be corrected by the Department as usual; but grade nine papers will be corrected by their own teachers.

Yours respectfully,
COLIN B. FAULKNER

GOOD ROADS?

The government grader, so-called and quite properly so, seeing it is directly under Government patronage, although owned by the public who also pay for its operation, is in our midst as it was last summer about this time doing its deadly work of destroying all roads it touches at this season of the year in this south country. Evidently there is money to spend on roads and those in charge are going to spend it willy nilly. Not the slightest attention is being paid to the most elementary principles of road-making—money to spend, let's spend it—ha, ha. Surely the Council of Bright and the Local Member must realize that to line up a road and heap dust in its centre in this district in this season of the year is worse than wasting money. After a few weeks of traffic and wind nothing remains of the work but the side lines, and for the rest of the season the road is worse than before. If proof is necessary I call to mind the Macleod to Brocket road all last fall and this fall the Lethbridge-Macleod and Macleod-Waterton Park roads.

Have the people responsible not intelligence enough to know that grading while our soil is so dry is futile, that it will not pack, and learn to leave it alone during the dry weather, except for absolutely necessary repairs.

Why not have certain sections of the road under control of a person who holds his job only on his mileage showing good condition for actual money expended.

By what right has the person in charge of the grader cut through all cross-roads leaving a rut ten to twenty-four inches deep? No chance for motorists to see until it is too late. Are our councillors to blame for this?—May not the municipality some day have to pay for injuries to persons and breaks to cars if this is not remedied.

The roads leading in and out of Macleod are a public disgrace, and it would seem that the local member and councillors are also to blame. Good Dominion and provincial government money is being thrown away. Grading ought only to be done when the soil is moist enough to pack, and even a child knows that that condition does not exist here during July, August and September.

If a little energy, a very little, had been used this spring while the roads were still damp, and a drag kept busy our roads would have been in good condition. One wishes for some real interest in good roads as against so reckless a spending of the people's money.

DE TO DEVELOP
VANCOUVER HARBOR

VANCOUVER.—The Hon. C. G. Attyne, Minister of Marine and fisheries in the Dominion government, just completed a tour of inspection of the three British Columbian ports, Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert. In addressing a Canadian Club luncheon in this city he made a very important pronouncement in regard to port development here.

He announced that at the next session of Parliament he would ask for a second grant of $5,000,000 for harbor development in Vancouver. He said that before the big Ballantyne pier now under course of construction here was completed that work would start on another of like size and cost. He promised a lumber assembling wharf to enable small mills to engage in the export trade. A ferry capable of transferring 15 cars at a time across the harbor will be constructed at an early date. A line of first class passenger ships will be operated between Vancouver and the Orient in connection with the national railway system, beginning within a year. All ships built for the Canadian Government merchant marine on the Pacific coast will be operated from Pacific ports, and a direct line of steamships between Vancouver and India will be in operation by November 1.

Mr. Ballantyne also announced that lines to South America, the West Indies, West Africa, the Antipodes and the Orient will be established as soon as the complement of 18 ships is filled. He declared that harbor development here was a national necessity.

Another interesting announcement was that passenger accommodation would be provided on the government's cargo carriers to enable commercial travelers to reach out for business in the ports to be visited by those vessels.—Christian Science Monitor.

GENERAL WRANGEL
FORMIDABLE FOE
OF BOLSHEVISM

One of the determined enemies of Bolshevism is General Wrangel. He is not only a determined enemy, but he is proving himself a formidable one. In Southern Russia, which includes the Crimea, General Wrangel has established control, and his influence extends over neighboring sections to the north. In this southern part of Russia there is plenty of wheat, corn, barley and tobacco. Seven million pounds of corn were recently captured in one district alone. Altogether he has enough grain to feed his army for a year, with some to export.

General Wrangel's army consists of fully 150,000 men. At least a quarter of them are Cossacks who have never submitted to the Bolsheviks. Wrangel has captured enough artillery and ammunition to equip his whole force; on August 13 he took about 350 machine guns and some 4,000 prisoners. Greater attention is paid to the soldier's clothing, food and equipment, and to the prevention of waste, than in the Bolshevik army.

As to labor, instead of the Bolsheviks, the government may select and at any wages or none, Wrangel has established a wage scale, putting manual workers, officials, and officers on the same basis. He is really the first man systematically to fight Bolshevik ideas in Russia with economic ideas of another and juster kind.

Peter Nikolavitch, whose title is Baron Wrangel, was born in the Baltic Provinces about forty years ago. He was educated for the military service and enlisted in the Horse Guards, one of the best regiments of the old regime. In the war against Germany he distinguished himself and was advanced in rank and command. In the fight against Bolshevism he was one of Denikine's lieutenants. Denikine became jealous of him, and dismissing him, sent him out of the country. Upon Denikine's downfall the council of the southern army reinstated him. He is now doing his best to save Southern Russia from Bolshevism.—Family Herald.

DEATH THREAT FROM RADICALS

CENTRALIA, Wash., Sept. 24.—Department of Justice representatives are investigating the receipt today by a local newspaper of a threatening letter purporting to be from "Milwaukee radicals" in which warning is given that American legionaries and business men who escaped the "Armistice Day murders" in this city, would be killed about the 15th of October. Six local men are named as contemplated victims.—Lethbridge Herald.

Canadian shoe manufacturers claim that for many years fully 20% of the finer lines of boots and shoes sold in Canada, although made in this country, are sold as imported goods in deference to the popular prejudice for the foreign products. Canada will never reach her highest development while made in Canada products are discriminated against by her own people.

THE WATCH FAIR HELD AT GENEVA

Switzerland, long known the world over for its manufacture of watches has just been holding its first watch and jewelry fair at Geneva, and the fair, contributed to by about 175 manufacturers of timepieces, jewelry and kindred products, reveals an intention of making the Swiss alarm clock as widely familiar as the Swiss watch. Before the war the manufacturers of Switzerland had to confess that those of Germany did better than they could hope to in making and selling alarm clocks; and so far as the Swiss were concerned, little effort was made to keep people outside the homeland from oversleeping. In distant parts of the world who ever went shopping for an inexpensive clock, with or without the imperative little bell, was likely enough to come home with a clock "made in Germany."

H. Lawrence Groves, United States trade commissioner, went to the watch and jewelry fair, and must have been disappointed, so one may judge by his contribution to Commerce reports, not to meet anybody from home. There were visitors at the fair from India, Siam and Japan, from Scandinavia, the Netherlands, France, England, Italy, Spain and South America, all very much interested in Swiss watches, clocks and jewelry. The explanation may be that those who sell watches and clocks to their fellow citizens in the United States are very well satisfied with the home product. During the war the Swiss watchmakers, clockmakers and workers in allied industries, who count up in the census as second only to the total number of textile workers in that thrifty republic, have been producing for foreign markets where Germany hitherto predominated.

German watch-making had a long history. It went back to days when a watch was a proud possession, to which one referred in an offhand way as a "Nuremberg Egg." That was back in the fifteenth century, when the invention of the spiral spring made it possible to carry your timepiece about with you, whereas hitherto it had had to stay at home on the wall, where there was plenty of room for the hanging weights that kept it going, or in the garden, where it needed the sun to cast a shadow on the dial. Shaped a good deal like an egg, and hung from the owner's girdle, it was natural enough that these first "made in Germany" watches came to be known as "Nuremberg Eggs." And it was not until about 1620 that watches anywhere began to approach the flattened oval shape which today reaches so thin that one can hardly imagine them thinner. But the "Nuremberg Egg," distant ancestor of the watch that is still remembered as the "bull's eye," or again as "turnip" did not long remain egg-like; to make the thing ornamental as well as useful, human ingenuity gave it various forms. One might wear, for example, a silver duck, which one opened to tell the time. But in the seventeenth century the improvements in mechanism made a flatter watch possible and then the watchmakers ornamented the dial and sometimes provided the watch with a little bell that struck the hour. When watches were less common than they are nowadays, the little bell must have been helpful to people who had no timepieces of their own. Instead of bothering the proud gentleman with a watch by asking him the time, one could listen till his watch struck.—Christian Science Monitor.

A plan, by which Ontario fruit growers will sell their apples direct to Winnipeg consumers, is being worked out by mayor Gray, of that city, who says the people are tired of the "exorbitant prices" of the fruit men.

Dr. A. Grant Fleming of Toronto, has been appointed as deputy medical officer of health for Toronto at a salary of $6,000 a year. Dr. Fleming is now head of the Venereal Disease Board at Ottawa.

MAY BE CAR SHORTAGE

Information has been received by the Department of Agriculture from the Canadian Pacific Railway that this company has a large surplus of cars awaiting loading and in view of the heavy crop of grain to be shipped, there is prospect of a car shortage later on in the season.

The Department would therefore urge farmers and grain firms to ship as much grain as possible to the head of the Lakes during the present month. In doing this, the Department is not in any way advising people to sell their grain at the present time as this is a matter which each man must decide for himself.

MAY ALLISON IN THE CHEATER

Empress Theatre, Mon. and Tues.
October 4th and 5th.

LETTER FROM REV. LEWIS

Sept. 18, 20,

Dear Mr. Editor.

I am thinking of Macleod this morning, more in the way of contrast than admiration, for her beauty is in the spirit of her people rather than in the way of natural endowment.

Enclosed you will find a picture post card of Hamilton market, a very inadequate representation of the reality, it has no peer, I am sure, in Canada, and certainly not in Chicago or Minneapolis.

Imagine a block in the heart of the city with five streets or lanes running through it as long as from the Bank of Commerce in Macleod down to Kennedys stable and banked on both sides as high as a wagon with fruit of nearly every description. Peaches, pears, plums, grapes, melons, tomatoes, vegetables and flowers.

I gave a fellow a nickel and asked him for a pear, he loaded me up with six and would have given me more but I had no more pockets. I wanted a melon but was afraid to buy one for it would necessitate calling a dray. Fifty cents a basket was the prevailing price for peaches, pears, plums and grapes, about fifteen pounds in a basket. Green corn, not little short ears like I grow in Macleod, but large full ears like Mr. Joe Hick's—I mean like the ears of corn that he grows—for fifteen cents a dozen.

Musk melons, we call them cantaloupes—I am not sure how to spell that, spelling was never my long suit—five cents a piece, or seventy-five cents a basket full. And astors that would satisfy the aesthetic eye of even Mr. Arthur Young, twenty-five cents for enough to fill a bushel basket. Celery, an armful for fifty cents.

I am having all the fun I can get considering my slender means.

We had a magnificent sail down the lakes. The steamer, the Keewatin, is elegant. I used to sit and revel in the luxury. When I would look around on my surroundings I felt as if I were Lord Shaughnessy when I put my hand in my pocket I transformed into Dewdney, Macleod's celebrity. There was one fly in the ointment of the boat trip, they make you get up at five o'clock in the morning in order to land at Port McNichol, I will not come that route again but will land further down the lake.

I had one compliment paid me. A man asked me where I was from, I told him Macleod, southern Alberta. He said "are you shipping a train load of cattle?" Of course he couldn't see my purse, but my chest went out until I thought of the three lonely ducks, all the live stock I have. They would not go far in making up a train load of live stock, but it made me feel good. I'm going to ask Mr. Ed. Maunsell to let me go into partnership with him when I get back.

Ontario has the best crop of years, abundance of everything.

Well, good bye, I hope everybody will be good until I get back.

Yours faithfully,
W. A. LEWIS.

LIVE STOCK PROSPECTS

A tendency to conservative progress is the most marked feature of the fall's prospects in the western Canadian livestock. A special correspondent of the Industrial and Development Council of the Canadian Meat Packers now investigating conditions in the prairie provinces in view of the bountiful harvest, reports that two trends can be easily traced.

In the first place there is a steady development in the cattle industry. It is shown in an all round interest in better stock, better methods of raising and more attention to marketing needs, both for the live trade and for packing plants. Losses caused by the extreme feed shortage last winter are now estimated at about ten per cent. But its lesson has been learned. Thousands of stock raisers are now growing more feed grains. This is practically lost sight of in the enthusiasm that a splendid wheat crop, running round about eighteen bushels to the acre probably, has aroused through the west. Then, too, the poorer animals were sold off during the shortage and future stock will be improved by the weeding out that has taken place.

Where, near the cities, dairying has grown rapidly there is a tendency to take up the dual purpose cattle, milking Shorthorns and Herefords mainly, rather than the specifically milk breeds. Supplies of beef are not so cut into as might at first sight appear.

But, in the second place, the supplies of hogs are down far below expectation. Many of the western packing plants are handling less than 40 per cent. of hogs compared with two years ago. The slaughter of breeding sows has been of incalculable damage. A round fifty per cent. drop is none too much to attribute to the hog trade. Not only did the unfavorable price control of high prices of feed induce this, last fall and winter, but the extremely high rates of labor for farm help seems to have perpetuated it and may do so for two years or more, if present indications prove anything. Everybody able to judge deplores the fact but they point to good prices for wheat and shrug their shoulders without prophesying too much. The opportunity for hogs in the east will be improved.

Yet one finds a pretty clear recognition that the Canadian bacon trade ought to offer bright prospects. Farmers and stockmen openly rejoice in knowing that the American hog is too fat for the Canadian and export trade. One packing plant not long ago experimented with hog carcasses bought not 10 miles from over the international line but in each shipment, though they specified low were too fat for either Wiltshire or domestic cuts. Of course this could be overcome by breeding the right type and proper feeding.

The two conditions in the western live stock industry might be summarized as follows:

1. A steady, cautious turn towards increased numbers of cattle of better quality.

2. A sudden slump in the number of hogs for which there appears to be no remedy for the next twelve months and which indicates that in view of the abundant crop of cereals, now is the time to get into hogs.

ASSOCIATION OF REGISTERED NURSES

The Association of Registered Nurses will hold its annual convention conjointly with the Alberta Hospitals' Association at Calgary in the Al Azhar Temple on October 20th, 21st and 22nd, the morning and afternoon sessions of the first day being devoted exclusively to the business of the Nurses' Association.

In addition to reports and routine business a conference on desirable legislative changes in the Registered Nurses' Act will be held, also one on the relationship between the provincial and local organizations.

A special hour will be devoted to Public Health work, and Mrs. Waagen, of the provincial branch of the Red Cross Society, will address the nurses on "Opportunities for Service under the Red Cross Society."

Matters of great importance to the nursing body will be fully discussed at the joint sessions with the Hospitals Association. It is hoped that every nurse, whether registered or not, will endeavor to be present and to take part in these discussions.

THREE DUAL ROLES IN "THE CHEATER"

May Allison and Two Members of Her Cast Interpret Characters of Contrasting Traits in Henry Arthur Jones's Play

Three roles fall to the lot of each of three principal players in "The Cheater," the Screen Classics, Inc., production in which May Allison stars and which was adapted by Lois Zellner from "Judah," the notable stage play by Henry Arthur Jones.

"The Cheater" will be the feature attraction at the Empress theatre for a run of two days beginning next Monday and Tuesday.

The story shows the activities of fakers.

May Allison plays the girl who through the influence of her associates, sees only the wrong side of life. Living with her father in degrading surroundings, she smokes cigarettes and reads trash. This is one role. Later she takes the other role as the Hindu Avan away.

Frank Currier is her Avan in the grouch set who thinks of Judah but getting money for drink. When money is in sight, he disguises as a minister to assist his partners in graft.

Harry Van Meter is head of the "gang." He is also a masquerader, pretending to be a Hindu crystal gazer, and in that guise obtaining money from foolish women of means.

"The Cheater" was produced at the Metro studios in Hollywood. It was directed by Henry Otto.

When the play was presented in London at the Shaftesbury theatre under the title of "Judah," it created a sensation, provoking more discussion than any drama that had been seen on the London stage in years.

Chief interest centered on the character of Vashti, which Miss Allison interprets in the screen version. The public was of two minds whether the girl was really conscienceless or whether she was forced to practice her deceptions through the evil influence of her father.

J. Gimmell, 7 miles south of Macleod, has purchased a new Baby-Four Overland from Alex. McDonald, local agent. Mr. Gimmell says it is a dandy car—that 130-inch spring base makes it ride like a Stanley steamer—some comfort over rough roads.

The New Twenty-year Capital Return Policy

(Issued by The Canada Life)

A Young Man and His Future

He takes his first step in business affairs, is examined by the doctor, and creates an estate of $5,000.

He improves the shining hour and impresses upon an important person that he is in possession of an "estate."

His tendency to save and invest is noted by his employers.

He finds his savings of great assistance in buying a home.

And as time goes on he is enabled to enjoy many of the good things of life.

Easily Understood :

1st. Deposits are made yearly. This is what you are saving, and at the end of 20 years the Canada Life guarantees the return of every dollar paid in.

2nd. Your life is insured from the day you make the first deposit,—for $5,000, or whatever amount you decide.

3rd. Dividends are paid at stated intervals in addition to the return of all deposits at the end of 20 years.

4th. These dividends may be used to reduce the amount of your yearly deposits, or be allowed to accumulate at interest for 20 years.

5th. The cash value of Policy and Dividends represents a valuable asset, useful in business, and your "estate" is protected by the insurance.

6th. At the end of Twenty Years you can draw out all you have paid in, along with the accrued dividends—you can draw a Special Cash Guarantee, together with the Accumulated Dividends, making a substantial sum, and leave the $5,000 Policy fully paid for and continuing to earn Dividends as long as you live—this Special Cash Guarantee may be applied to increase the amount of your policy to more than $7500.

—OR—

—OR—

An Immediate Estate

The great advantage over any other form of investment is that a small percentage paid yearly creates immediately an estate of $5,000, or more.

These active, progressive years of life in which you are earning the most money are the years in which premiums can be more easily met.

MABEL NORMAND COMEDY BOASTS RIOTOUS FUN

Star of Goldwyn's "Upstairs" Plays Billiards with Cherries and Ugly Mop Stick.

Mabel Normand, irrepressible and delightful, comes to the Empress theatre Friday in "Upstairs," her newest Goldwyn picture, directed by Victor Schertzinger from the story by Perley Moore Shean. Odd as it may seem, Mabel Normand does things in this photoplay the like of which she has never done before. This is partly explained when it is said that the action of the comedy transpires wholly in a big metropolitan hotel, where the star is first seen as an humble toiler in the sub kitchen.

All the intricacies of the vast culinary department are shown, with particular stress on the ice cream molding end of it. Here the funniest action is seen. Mabel Normand's best efforts are achieved on the spur of the moment and all the laughter she creates is usually the result of a sudden whim which sends the sprightly comedienne sprawling or twists her face in a comic grimace.

In "Upstairs" she plays a mock game of billiards with maraschino cherries, with a stick for cue.

Watching the interesting setting, with its tall freezers of real ice cream, pewter molds in a variety of shapes and all the paraphernalia for the making of frozen deserts, Miss Normand caught sight of a saucer of maraschino cherries. Of course she gobbled a number—she is like a child at the sight of sweets—and then suddenly hit upon the idea of the billiard game.

While she went through her pranks, Director Schertzinger regarded her out of the corner of his eye and was quick to see the amusing possibilities of her fun-making. He whispered to George Webber, the cameraman, and with Miss Normand in ignorance of what was going on her by-play was recorded on the celluloid for all time. The result is one of the most original and convulsing scenes in which she has ever participated. What is more, it is entirely spontaneous.

THE SASKATCHEWAN BANDITS BURNED IN HAY STACK

REGINA, Sept. 25.—Two of the bandits who held up a poker game at Red Deer Lumber Mills, on Saturday, and then engaged in a gun fight with Constable Ives and a posse on Monday afternoon, were captured without a shot being fired at Pee-sane, a small section on the C.N.R. line about 50 miles west of Hudson Bay junction, at noon Friday. The bandits were engaged eating their dinner at the time, and were taken absolutely unawares. When they were captured they were well armed.

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 27.—According to a telegram received today by Commissioner Mahoney from Inspector Tait, now at Tisdale, to take the two Roscoe bandits captured alive back to Prince Albert, the two dead bandits were Bolshevik agents. Inspector Tait states that the prisoners have informed him that their dead companions were operating in Canada on behalf of the "cause."

True to Their Vow

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Sept. 27.—True to their vow not to be taken alive, the two remaining members of the quartette of bandits who held up the Red Deer Lumber camp a week ago, were taken dead by Inspector R. R. Tait and his posse of police late Saturday afternoon. They were taken from a haystack five miles east of Tisdale, after having held the police, who surrounded the stack, at bay for five hours. They stood "pat" to the very last, and constantly returned the police fire. Their capture dead was effected only after they were riddled with rifle and revolver shots, and the haystack had been set on fire.

The bodies are now hard to recognize, but on the arm of one man are Russian name, which probably is interpreted as "Joe Trychuk." No name could be found for the other man except that it was learned, from the two bandits captured alive that he went under the name of "Tony."

A Desperate Encounter

The battle which preceded the capture of the last two was probably the most desperate ever encountered between police and bandits in the history of Canada. Over 400 rounds of ammunition were fired by the police and bandits, and all of the posse escaped uninjured.

Shortly after nine o'clock Saturday morning, while the members of the posse were getting a few hours of badly needed sleep at Tisdale, Section Foreman Nick Holloway informed Detective Sergeant Scottney that he had seen foot-tracks leading east of the town. He also observed a stack of about 15 tons of hay in the middle of a two-hundred-acre meadow, and saw that the footmarks led to it.

Acting on this clue, Detective Sergeant Scottney with Constables Chappius and Ives, boarded a freight train leaving Tisdale at the time, and traveled to the meadow. Leaving the train, they crossed a barb-wire fence and spread out covering the stack nearest the railway, with the intention of thoroughly searching it. Scottney noticed a head pop up from another stack in the centre of the meadow about one hundred yards distance. He gave the warning, and the posse spread out and with rifles and revolvers immediately covered. Discarding their raincoats, Scottney circled on a run to the northwest, while Ives acted in a similar manner to the northeast. Chappius posted off to the southeast. Ives gave a challenge and fired one shot high over the stack. A hand went up above the stack, and thinking this was a signal of surrender, the posse started closing in. Ives got to within 15 yards of the stack and shouted for the bandits to come out with their hands up. The reply was a volley of revolver shots from the bandits. By this time they had dug themselves into the hay, and just what part the shots were coming from could not be detected. The posse withdrew to a distance of 10 yards and started a bombardment of rifle and revolver fire into the stack.

Sent For Reinforcements

They advanced again under a white flag, but always with the same result, being met with a fusilade of revolver fire from the bandits. Scottney then withdrew to the railway track and signalled for a newspaperman to "Go back to Tisdale and get word to Inspector Tait and come with rifles and the rest of the posse."

The Inspector with Corporal Fieldhouse, Constables Johnston and Cornell and Section Foreman Nick Holloway, returned in a speeder with four more rifles and 100 rounds of ammunition. Immediately on reaching the scene, Inspector Tait tied a white handkerchief to the barrel of his rifle and advanced within 15 yards of the stack calling on the bandits to come out with their hands up. His greeting was a volley of six revolver shots which whizzed all about him. The fire was returned. The police were at a disadvantage, having to contend with unseen and desperate men. Withdrawing one hundred yards, the police were posted all around the stack and for two hours an intermittent bombardment of rifle and revolver fire was directed on the stack.

"If they do not surrender before 3 o'clock I will have the stack fired." "They must be got out of there before dark." About 2:30 it became evident that the bandits were holding what ammunition they then had for a showdown. At 3 o'clock they were still holding the police at bay. In the meantime a message had been dispatched by Tait to Tisdale on a speeder for 500 yards of binder twine, wire, and some waste with which to make a fire ball.

Haystack Is Fired

Sharp at 3 o'clock a match was touched to the fireball and the men on the northwest side started drawing in. In this manner the burning ball was drawn up to the end of the haystack and immediately it went ablaze. Inspector Tait, Ives and Scottney advanced a few feet behind the fireball, and tramping out the fire that was catching to the prairie as they went along.

They reached the haystack as soon as the fireball did. Inspector Tait circled the stack, calling on the bandits to come out and warning them that the stack was afire. He circled to the south side, repeating his warning, and on the south side when he was within a few feet of the stack, now well ablaze, three shots were fired by one of the bandits. The bandits were now hidden under hay at the top of the stack, however, and the shots passed high and injured nobody. Tait and Ives attempted to climb up on to the stack from the west end with the intention of pulling the bandits out before the fire reached them. Without ladders, however, this was impossible to do in a hurry with the stack ablaze. Even then a volley of five shots were fired out through the stack. A party of about a score of curious sightseers, who were closing in, turned and scampered to the woods. These were the last shots fired from the haystack. The top of the stack burned away and the two bandits, lying huddled together, face down, were disclosed. Long poles were secured and with these the now partly burned bodies were pushed from the top of the stack and dragged out into the open fields.—Calgary Herald.

TENT SEMI-MONTHLY CROP REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

Cutting of grain has now been completed except some of the late green feed. Harvesting has been carried on with ideal weather conditions throughout practically all of the province. Light rain commenced falling in the Central and Northern parts of the province on September 24th and continued for two days. Through the south and eastern portions 50 per cent of the threshing is done and through the remaining part it is well under way. The sample of wheat being received at elevators is of first class quality.

Estimates of yields of the different grains have been received from practically all crop correspondents. Some reports have also been received from threshers. The average of these estimates is as follows:—wheat 22 and one-tenth; oats 43 and one-third bushels; barley 30 and one-half bushels. Department officials who have been travelling throughout the Province and observing crop conditions are of the opinion that the estimate for wheat is close but that oats and barley are somewhat high, as the out-turn from threshers in many places has not been quite up to expectations. The Department therefore estimates oats at 39 bushels and barley at 28 bushels. The yields of wheat submitted by the crop correspondents run from 8 to 50 bushels the majority showing a yield of 20 to 25 bushels per acre. The returns have been received from agents located in every constituency in the Province, the total number of reports being two hundred and twenty-five.

Information received by the Department goes to show that the railway companies have a large number of empty cars which are available for shipments of grain at the present time. Indications are that the movement of grain and coal will be heavy in a short time so that the Department advises farmers and grain companies to ship all the grain possible to the water-front with a view to relieving the car shortage later on. No advice as to the selling of this grain is being given as this must be left to the judgement of the individual seller.

Practically no fall plowing has been done to date. Recent rains will improve the conditions of the soil for plowing and providing the fall proves to be an open one, many farmers are expecting to get considerable plowing done.

H. A. CRAIG,
Deputy Minister.

PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN IN THE MACLEOD DISTRICT

(Contributed. Published by request.) During the past week the provincial organizer of the prohibition force accompanied by A. H. Barton and Rev. W. H. Day made a tour of the towns west of Macleod in the interests of the Referendum. Wednesday was spent in Pincher Creek where there is a strong committee at work who report that the dry vote will be very strong. A meeting was held in the evening when Mr. Barton entertained the audience with a recital, afterwards giving an address, some opposition was encountered from some of the old timers who took exception to Mr. Barton's reference to conditions prevailing in the town 30 years ago. Mr. Hull followed with one of his talks full of facts and figures that was well received by the audience. On Thursday a visit was made to Cowley where a strong committee had been organized the week before. Mrs. Nellie McClung. This committee consists of representatives not only of Cowley but of Lundbreck and all the polls north as far as the Gap. On Friday there was a large turn-out to the meeting in Coleman in the evening where again Mr. Barton and Mr. Hull addressed an attentive audience. At Blairmore the prohibition forces are well organized and it is quite possible that the Crows Nest Pass will break even, if not showing a slight majority on the "dry" side. On Saturday the party returned, and Mr. Hull went on to Granum where meetings on Sunday, and Mr. Barton remained in Macleod conducting the morning service in the Presbyterian church on Sunday and holding a mass meeting in the Town Hall in the evening which was well attended. In speaking of conditions throughout the province Mr. Hull informed us that the prohibition forces are well organized and that the registration in nearly every place is very satisfactory, and there is possibility of a very large dry vote. It must be remembered that the election is being conducted under an entirely new election act which is different in many respects from the old especially in the matter of getting the voters on the list, yet in spite of this the returning officers are fulfilling their duties in a most satisfactory manner.

The office building next to H. C. Winter's on 2nd avenue has been opened as the prohibition headquarters for the Macleod constituency, and will remain open until after the vote is taken on October 25th.

Pianos receiving such attention are always in good condition, while those receiving irregular attention are never in condition.

A great many people who have pianos in their homes look upon them as a piece of furniture and not as a musical instrument for which they have paid from four hundred to one thousand dollars. This piano will sometimes stand in a home for years and never get one particle of care outside of being dusted each morning so that it will show up well with the rest of the furniture. Then, when there is a birthday party or friends should come from out of town, a tuner is hurriedly called in at the last moment, or the first man who should call at the door and represent himself as a tuner gets the job.

If this man should happen to be a reliable tuner he would first ascertain the pitch and examine the condition of the piano action and keys. Nine chances out of ten he would know immediately that the piano had been seriously neglected and would find it considerably below its proper pitch or he might find the instrument infested with moths or mice, which had already done a great deal of damage to a previously fine in-

While the Family Sits Around

On quiet evenings or afternoons, put on your favorite records. Play any selection you wish. Be sure to play some of mother's favorite old-time songs and one or two of dad's familiar ballads—play them all on your Columbia Grafonola.

You will get reproductions of exactly what the artists themselves produced on the original wax. Every note, every tone is distinct. The Columbia tone leaves give you complete and accurate control over tone volume without sacrificing tone quality or any of the beauty of your choicest records.

Then there's the Non Set Automatic Stop—no other phonograph has it—built right into the motor. Invisible. Nothing to move or set or measure. Just start your Grafonola, and it plays and stops itself.

Ask us to play these Columbia Records for you:

strument and, of course, would be unable to put this piano back in reasonably good condition without spending considerable time.

A standard piano action is made up of approximately seven thousand three hundred and ninety parts, some of them are very small and require adjustment.

You can readily see that without years of proper training it would be folly to attempt such work, yet there are many so-called tuners who have never had any training at all, but are able with the assistance of a smooth tongue and persistent nerve to pass themselves off to the unsuspecting piano owner as an expert tuner. These so-called tuners cause the ruin of a great many pianos which would have been fine musical instruments if they had been entrusted to the care of a reliable man.

Good tuning at regular intervals lengthens the life of a piano and preserves the one quality, while poor tuning will ruin the tone of the best piano ever made, in short time. To assure the piano owners of good efficient service, when they wish their pianos tuned or repaired, an Association of Piano Tuners has been formed in Calgary.

All association tuners must have at least five years practical experience and must pass an examination as to their ability, examination must take place in the presence of a committee appointed for that purpose. This will assure the piano owners at once that association tuners are thoroughly competent and can be depended upon to render the most efficient service.

The examining committee is also required to ascertain the character of each applicant for membership in this association, so that not only is the piano owner protected against the depradation of the fake tuners, but is also assured of the most gentlemanly and honest treatment, and the association men can be trusted at all times as they are required by the association to deal fairly with their patrons in all matters.—Calgary Herald.

All the hair combings in a Chinese household are saved as carefully as if they were nuggets. In course of time they are spun into long threads and woven into stockings. The popular belief is that stockings of human hair keep out the wet better than any other. At one time the Japanese made use of human hair in church erecting. It was the custom for church going people to give some of their hair as a free-will offering when a temple was being built. Such a structure at Tokio had the beams and rafters held in place by one of these human hair cables. Placed end on end, this human hair rope measured 4,287 ft. long was 7 in. in diameter, and weighed 8,847 lb., no fewer than 350,000 persons contributing before a sufficiently was obtained.—Family Herald.
